Have your say on health and social care services across the London Borough of Havering

Healthwatch is the consumer champion for health and social care for children and adults living in England.

Healthwatch Havering supports and works for, and with, people who live, or access services, in the London Borough of Havering.

An independent approach...

Healthwatch Havering is an independent service that listens to, and works with, local people to improve health and social care services for everyone. We aim to ensure that local people feel well connected, have easy access to information about health and social care and ample opportunity to have their say.

We are seeking volunteers who can spare an hour or two a month to help us.

If you are interested, we would like to hear from you...

Participation in Healthwatch Havering

We need local people, who have time to spare, to join us as volunteers. We need both people who work in health or social care services, and those who are simply interested in getting the best possible health and social care services for the people of Havering.

The strength of our work is entirely based in the strength of our volunteer team. They lead and set the priorities and objectives, based on personal knowledge and the experiences that people and organisations share with us and the national and local agenda. Within our Annual Report we share with you examples of their work and achievements.

We are looking for:

Members

Very often a life experience has encouraged people to think about giving something back to the local community or simply personal circumstances now allow individuals to have time to develop themselves. This role will enable people to extend their networks, and can help prepare for college, university or a change in the working life. There is no need for any prior experience in health or social care for this role.

Participants in our Friends Network

Participation in our Friends Network is open to every citizen and organisation that lives or works within the London Borough of Havering. The Friends Network ensures that Healthwatch is rooted in the community and acts with a view to ensure that Healthwatch Havering represents and promotes community involvement in the commissioning, provision and scrutiny of health and social services.
